The 1946

ALFARATA

Dedication

Today we look forward with renewed hope to a world free from turmoil and strife. Our earnest prayer is for a world of peace and understanding—a world of cooperation and fellowship. We sincerely believe that the spirit of fellowship and cooperation in evidence here at Juniata will guide us in the future and so, we proudly dedicate this, the 1946 Alfarata, to the first cooperative student-faculty governing body of Juniata College—the 1936 Senate. Our participation in this campus government helps us better develop those qualities which will make us worthy citizens of the world.

The 1936 Senate

To Juniata, College dear,
In praise we raise our song.
The place of loyal hearts and cheer,
Which we have loved so long,
We love the pathways to and fro,
The classrooms and the hall;
We'll ne'er forget tho far we go
The days within her walls.

CALVERT N. ELLIS, Ph.D
President of the College

I congratulate the Alfarata on this special recognition of our cooperative government at Juniata. Our form of student government has been in operation more than ten years and has demonstrated its efficiency. It provides an over-all supervision of extra-curricular life at Juniata and an immediate contact between faculty and students in campus planning.

The twelve student representatives on the Senate are chosen for particular functions or to represent certain interests. The faculty advisers are the two deans and one other chosen by student members. The Senate charts the course of our student life. They charter campus organizations, focus student thinking and organize our community life in its varied activities.

The Senate member has the experience of representing a group or interest and at the same time cooperating with other members to promote the welfare of the entire college community. This is, I believe, the essence of the democratic process in representative government. It is a microcosm of our American government and of the United Nations Organization. Here various student interests, projects, and organizations present their claims and receive direction. The Senate unites our campus in purpose and effort.

The administration and faculty accept the student leaders chosen by popular vote. These Senate members have been men and women of leadership and ideals. They have carried our community life forward without friction because the student body has chosen leaders of purpose and dynamic. Our small campus world has demonstrated the democratic process.

The pattern of action changes with new leadership and with the characteristics of the student group. The Senate has assumed increasing responsibilities as our community government grew in vision and stability. We hope that each succeeding student generation will assume more responsibility for campus welfare.

Who's Who

Garaldine Baer: This vivacious home economics student made her mark as Chairman of General Activities and as the Managing Editor of the Juniatian—just to prove her versatility, "Gerry" was also elected to the May Queen's Court every year.

Virginia Baker Shallenberger: "Jinny" performed her duties as Chairman of Women's House with efficiency, calmness, and tact—Mrs. Shallenberger avoided the perils of specialization by participating in the International Relations Club and the Women's Athletic Association.

Betty Boucher: Another "home-ecer,"—capable and busy "Boo" was President of the Women's Athletic Association as well as serving as Sports Editor for the Juniatian and treasurer of the Lambda Gamma—she handled all the tasks in her quiet, efficient way.

Who's Who

Frances Clemens: Our second "Lady President" of the Student Senate, also edited the Alfarata and in 1944 served as Secretary of the A Cappella Choir—quiet, efficient "Franny" achieved her place on the Honor Society with the ease which characterized her every activity—let us not forget her part in the Varsity Trio!

Dorothy Faith Essick: Here's our Editor-in-Chief of the Juniatian—"Dottie Faith," a biology major with a "yen" for journalism, was a member of the Student Senate as Chairman of Publications—too, she showed her ability as a high school teacher during the year.

Marguerite Cooper: Marguerite, seeking fame as a linguist, led a varied career, proving her worth as President of the Y. W. C. A., and Vice-president of the French Club—"If you want something done, give it to a busy person,"—so "Marg" was also an active member of the International Relations Club and the A Cappella Choir.

Miriam Estep: For anything musical, "Ask Mim"—she can supply it—our favorite pianist was President of the Maranatha Club and the A Cappella Choir—seems like she also accompanied quite a number of people at their recitals.

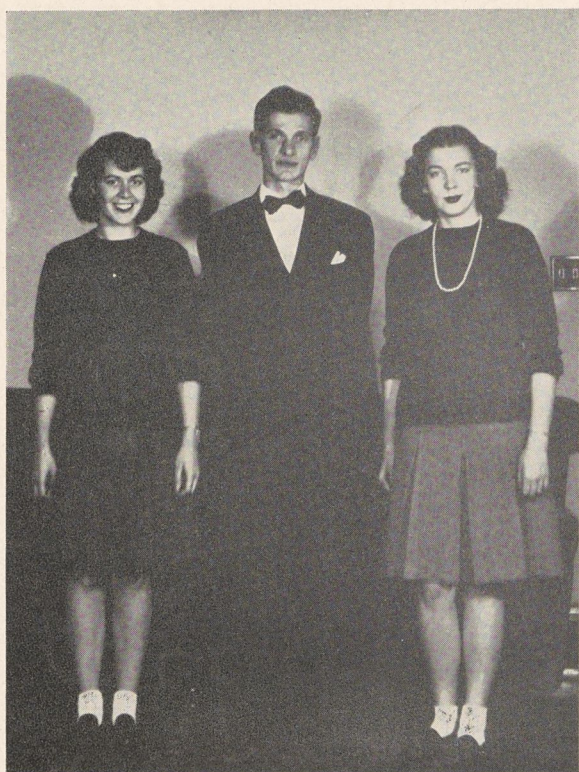

Earl Kaylor: This active Bible and philosophy major, devoted much of his time to sports—his playing on the varsity baseball team was not to be "sneezed at"—Earl's activities did not end there—he was also President of Volunteers and the Dunkard Club.

Llewellyn Merritt: This is the second appearance of "Llew" in Who's Who—he's quite a fellow—with his position as Vice-president of the Senate and as a leader in the International Relations Club—"Llew" seemed to know his "business" in regard to things international.

SECOND SEMESTER ENTREES

Increasing advantageously the population on College Hill, second semester entries this year boosted the enrollment by almost ninety.

A large majority of these students were veterans and former students. Many of the ex-service men entered as freshmen to commence their studies in varied fields such as music, liberal arts, physical education, pre-medical, pre-veterinarian, pre-ministerial and pre-law. These varied interests serve to make this group of students particularly enthusiastic about all phases of college life. They have aided greatly in bringing back to College Hill all those activities which have been so lacking and insufficient during the war—activities such as basketball, baseball, track, dramatics and others.

Aside from the returning veterans and former Juniatics, there were also new freshmen who entered at semesters. Some of these people, planning to accelerate, will receive their high school diplomas after completing one semester of work at Juniata.

THE CLASS OF 1949

Juniata's first freshman class to enter in peace time for over a student generation started its college career with promise. As usual the first week was taken up by an orientation program including tests, teas, and a tour of the campus. Under the able leadership of Doctor Kenneth Smoke, the freshmen advisor, the class became acquainted with the college program and regulations.

"Big Sisters" and "Big Brothers" also helped the bewildered freshmen adjust to their new life. The Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. provided each new student with an upper-classman to help him with his problems, social, personal, or scholastic.

After the mysterious rites of initiation were over, the "greenies" became accepted members of the student family. Their warm personalities soon won them many friends and their vigor and enthusiasm soon led them to positions of leadership. It was not long until the varied interests and abilities of the frosh found expression in many campus activities. They quickly became members of the existing organizations and helped to revive those which had been dropped during the war.

In athletics, the freshmen displayed great promise; a promise fulfilled on the athletic field and gymnasium floor. Outstanding players were first seen in the traditional Homecoming games and later in all girls' and boys' sports.

Artistically, members of the class were found to have musical and dramatic talent. They became part of the personnel of the College Orchestra and Choir, and also were in the casts and crews of the plays given by The Masque. Their contributions to the social life on campus must not be overlooked either. They entertained the school with a memorable party, took part in various entertainments and gave the other classes keen competition for the coveted cup on All Class Night.

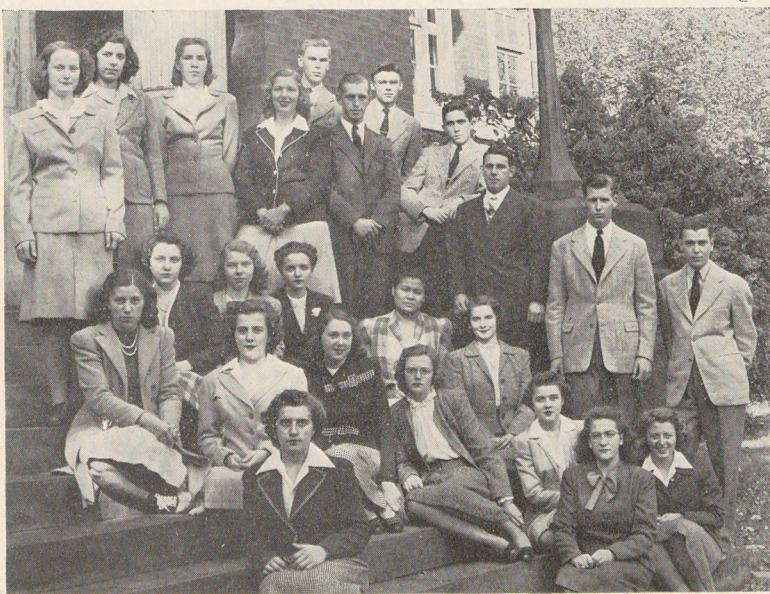

However, even with all these activities the class did not forget the real purpose of coming to college. They applied themselves to serious study. The results of this year's work give promise of future contributions to Juniata and later to the world.

The freshmen chose the following as their leaders:

Secretary	Marjorie Dods
Treasurer	Robert Mock

Llewellyn Merritt
Senate Vice-President

The officers of the student governing body are the same as for any other club or class and the same duties are conducted by these executives except on a larger scale.

The Senate is fortunate in having the Deans of the College and a third faculty member meet with them each Friday to assist in the administration of their procedures and guide them in the most efficient manner.

THE SENATE

Representing all of the phases of campus life, Senate members meet each week to discuss current activities and problems, and to plan for improved college conditions for the future. Three faculty advisors sit in on the meetings to aid the students with the administration of their activities.

This past year, under the guidance of President Frances Z. Clemens, the second woman to hold the presidency since the organization of the Senate in 1935, this student governing body again sponsored the annual Leadership Conference held on campus, September 14-16. Forty-four representative students were chosen from the college group to plan activities for the year. The most notable change requested by the conferees was the return of campus drama to Juniata. This change was realized.

Coming with an enlarged student body, another indication of reviving campus activity was found in the charters granted by the Senate to the following newly organized campus groups: the Kat Club, the Veterans' Organization, the Masque, and the Future Teachers of America Association.

In order to foster more open student opinion concerning the general campus activities, Senate members decided this year to publicize major issues and to consider more thoroughly student reaction to proposed alternatives. The problem concerning the continuation or abandonment of All Class Night was the first of such issues presented to the students.

Another project carried out by the Senate this year was the erection of one centralized bulletin board in Students' Hall. The group also received and acted upon student petitions and made suggestions for improving Christmas decorations which included a lighted tree on campus for the first time since the war. They proposed repairs on the inter-hall phone system in the Women's Dormitory, improvement on the college bell system, and the purchase of a new amplifier.

GENERAL ACTIVITIES

The Chairman of General Activities serves as the head of all the general events on campus during the college year. With the help of various committees, she plans Homecoming Weekend, All Class Night, Move-up Day, May Day, and the special events at Christmas.

The General Activities Chairman also works with the presidents of the various clubs on campus. Together they plan club meetings and activities and provide for the election of officers of the campus clubs.

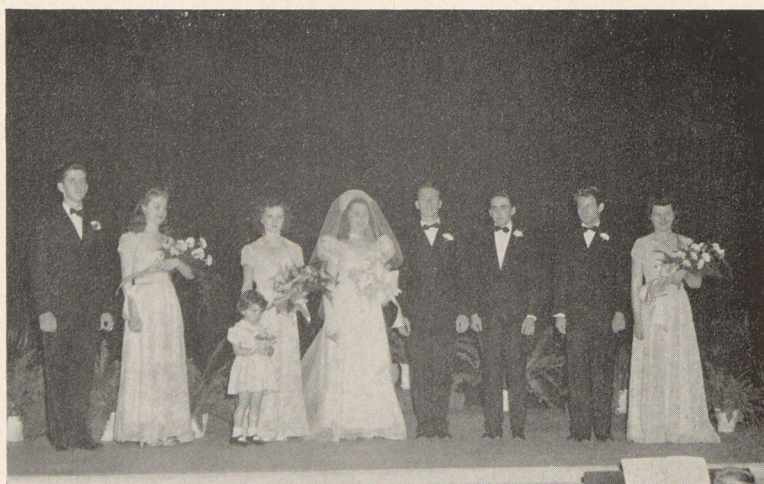

LAMBDA GAMMA FASHION SHOW

On the stage of Oller Hall, March 28, the Lambda Gamma sponsored a Spring Fashion Review, the first to be presented at the College since the beginning of the war. Leland Miles, a senior, was chosen commentator for the Review.

All types of clothing, both men's and women's daytime and evening wear, were shown by the models who were chosen from the student body. The show took place in a formal setting with organ background music.

Co-chairmen Ruth Bennett and Jane Bashore, and their faculty advisor, Mrs. Mary Gaines Friend, were in charge of the basic plans for the show. Helping them in this work was the executive committee, composed of Betty Spencer, Lois McMann, John Rinehart, Mary Louise Griffith, and Jean Saulsbury. Members of the various assisting committees were selected from the student body and worked under the following committee heads: chairman of scenery, Florence Cobb; chairman of music, Alberta Glasgow; publicity manager, Betty Erickson; backstage co-chairmen, Eleanor Vadala and Martha Jane Elwein; chairman of ushers, Mary Louise Bumpus; and lighting, Paul Yoder. Mrs. William Smaltz was in charge of the modeling rehearsals.

LAMBDA GAMMA

The Lambda Gamma, sponsored by students in the field of Home Economics, is the largest of the departmental clubs on campus. It strives to unite the department in a closer social relationship, to develop responsibility, dependability, and resourcefulness of the members, and to cooperate with the State Home Economics Association. In keeping with this purpose, under the direction of President Mary Louise Griffith and the other officers of the Club, monthly meetings were held with varied programs. At the first meeting plans were made for the year's activities. Other programs included a supper hike to Cold Springs, a talk by Miss Gertrude L. Butler, Head of the Home Economics Department, on recent legislation concerning Home Economics, and movies of interest to the members.

A highlight of the year was the annual formal banquet held in January at the Penn Koffee Shoppe in downtown Huntingdon. Mr. Paul F. Heile, representing the American Crayon Company, spoke to the group demonstrating silk printing.

Among the other activities of the Club were two of the "after concert" Koffee Shops for which the Lambda Gamma is famous. With a variation in the menu from previous years, the Koffee Shops were well patronized and very successful. Another project was the purchasing of a gift for the new faculty room in 1630. A feature revived from several years ago was the combined spring fashion show and tea.

Faculty advisors for the year were Miss Gertrude L. Butler and Mrs. Adah R. Dick. The second semester Mrs. Friend became the advisor in Mrs. Dick's place. The officers were: President, Mary Louise Griffith; Vice President, Joan Rinehart; Secretary, Helen Crawford; Treasurer, Betty Boucher.

FRENCH CLUB

"Parlez-vous francais?" To those answering this question in the affirmative, "Le Cercle Francais" was an important meeting place this year. Under the guidance and careful planning of Mademoiselle Shaffer and the advisors Mademoiselle McCrimmon, Monsieur Clemens, and Monsieur Oller, the members of this organization enjoyed many a pleasant evening.

Drama took a front seat from the very beginning. At the first meeting, several Club members presented a farce showing what might happen when "Mademoiselle N'est Pas A La Classe" —or when the teacher is not in class. Later in the year, the puppet theater was revived, and under Monsieur Clemens' direction the ambitious "Frenchies" presented several amusing puppetries, including the popular "Pyrame at Thisbe" and "Guignol A L'Ecole." The members of the Club were enthusiastic about the puppet theatre and planned to give it increasing importance in their French Club programs. One puppet show was open to the public. Proceeds derived from such a performance were donated to the French Relief. The officers this year were: President, Elizabeth Shaffer; Vice-President, Marguerite Cooper; Secretary-treasurer, Frances Newcomer.

SPANISH CLUB

One of the newcomers among campus organizations this year was the Spanish Club. A demand for it came from an increasing number of students interested in Spanish.

Calling themselves "Amigos", the Spanish students organized early in the fall. After writing a constitution and electing the following officers: Gloria Rung, president; Angeles Diaz, vice president and Bernadine Holden, secretary-treasurer, they made plans for the year.

Mr. Clemens, who was chosen as the faculty advisor, helped them organize and plan their activities.

At the monthly meetings of the club, programs about Spain and Spanish America were presented. By interesting short skits, readings, and music the members learned about the lives and customs of our Spanish-speaking neighbors. Conversation and singing helped them develop fluency in the use of that language.

The aims of the organization were to give students a chance to speak the language they were studying and to develop good will towards those peoples who speak it. Although the Spanish Club was a new one, its worthy aims and interesting programs added to the growing popularity of the language itself and gave it an important part in campus life.

ALPHA BETA GAMMA CLUB

The Alpha Beta Gamma Club, sponsored by Elementary Education students, strives for better elementary teachers. This organization, familiarly known as the "ABC" Club, was headed this year by Edna Thomas. The theme and main project carried out by the Club was story telling at the College Nursery School and at the County Library.

Early in the fall, three new members were formally initiated into the Club. At that time, Miss Esther Doyle was also welcomed as the new faculty advisor. Later in the year, the puppet stage, the completed project of last year, was given to Mrs. Christian Feit, former Elementary Education Director at Juniata. The puppet stage is now being used for work in the Training School at Lock Haven Teachers College. In October it was the privilege of the ABC Club to visit the Training School which is under the supervision of Mrs. Feit. Such a trip proved of great value in the field of practical experience.

Another activity of the ABC Club this year was the handling of the Christmas card concession. The money earned was used in the spring for a banquet honoring the Senior Club members and to purchase supplies needed by the department.

This year saw the junior and senior members of the Club affiliated with the "Future Teachers of America Organization." The other members of the Alpha Beta Gamma were invited to attend the lectures sponsored by the F. T. A., so regular ABC meetings were discontinued the second semester.

The officers of the Club were: Edna Thomas, president; Grace Landis, secretary; Betty Brumbaugh, vice-president and treasurer.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

The Future Teachers of America organization is a comparatively new organization both at Juniata and throughout the United States. This club brings to the student a motivating power of a lifelong purpose. It is organized to develop high ideals in the lives of its members, to enrich the spirit of college life, to advance the interests of the teaching profession, and to foster the education of all people.

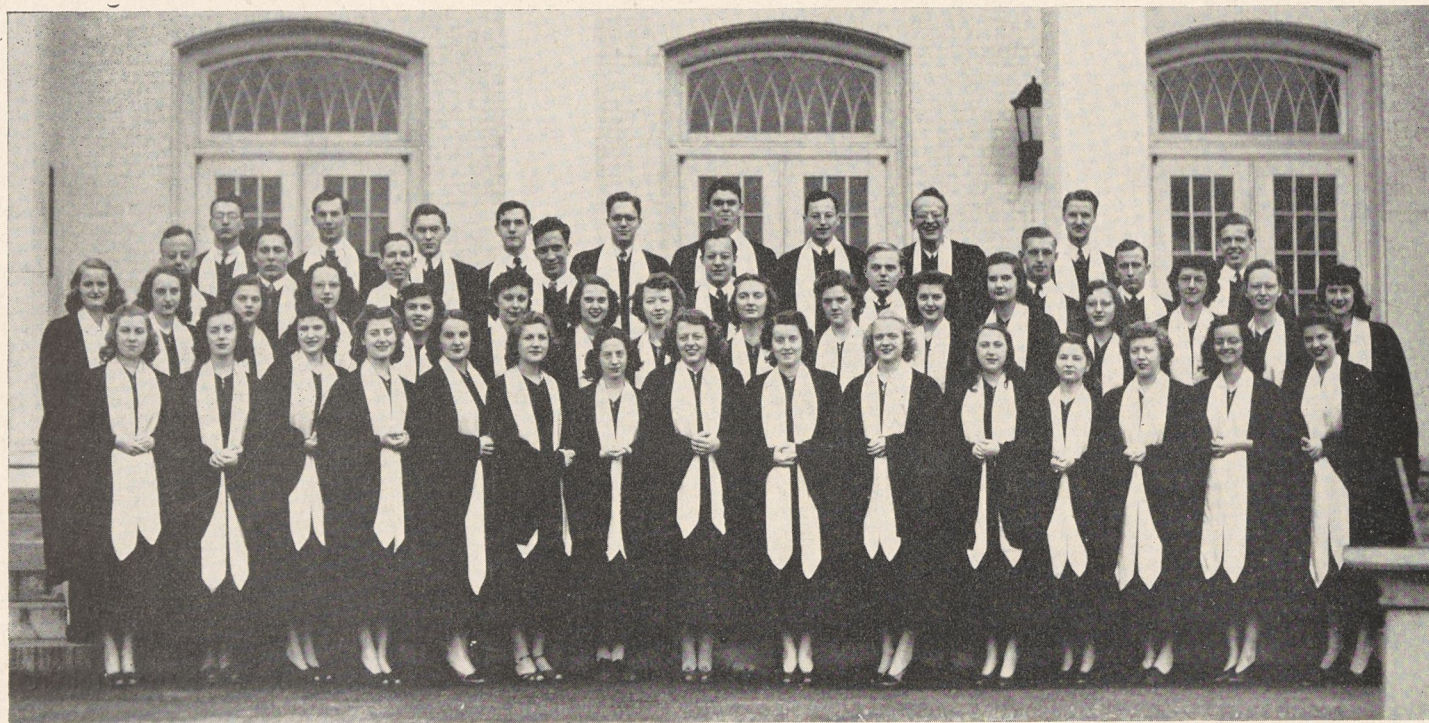

The first F. T. A. college and university chapters were chartered in 1939. However, in 1942 there were over one hundred chapters in good standing. A student organization of this type entitles the members to receive the Pennsylvania School Journal, the Education Bulletin, and a card indicating membership in the Pennsylvania State Education Association. The prospective teacher feels he is already a member of the profession even before obtaining a position.

Many of the students of Juniata have professed their interest by becoming members of this organization. This will prove to be a great asset not only during college days, but through life. Since there are so many students interested in teaching as a vocation, the Club is certain to become an outstanding one on our campus. This year meetings were held every month. It was the aim of the Club to have important educators at each meeting to discuss pertinent problems in education.

The F. T. A. branch at Juniata had elected the following officers for the year: president, Bernadine Holden; vice-president, Mary Louise Bumpus; secretary-treasurer, Anna Jean Smith.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

Having endured the unfortunate effects of a war-time Juniata, the Juniata College A Cappella Choir has resumed the normal function this year in its fourteenth season. For two years this Choir consisted only of girls, but again it has become a mixed group of fifty delightfully polished and harmoniously blended voices.

Traveling condition made extensive tours impossible during the war but this year two complete trips were made. The first week of February found the Choir touring the East and stopping at such places as Chambersburg, Waynesboro, York, Harrisburg, and some smaller towns in Pennsylvania and Maryland. At Easter the Choir took its second tour, this time visiting Somerset, Pittsburgh, and Johnstown. At the latter two places, concerts were given. Several week-end trips to nearby cities were also taken, and the concerts given at each of these places featured the girls' varsity trio consisting of Phyllis Diehm, Elaine Hay, and Frances Clemens. In addition to having sung at churches throughout the state, the Choir visited various high schools where they were warmly welcomed.

The A Cappella Choir, augmented by other singers and by returning alumni, sang the oratorio, "Elijah," by Mendelssohn on Sunday evening of commencement week. This traditional part of commencement week had been discontinued during the war, but it has again become one of the outstanding features of the commencement season.

Directing the Choir this year was Professor Charles L. Rowland. It was through his capable leadership and untiring efforts that the Choir was so successful.

Officers of the Choir were: Miriam Estep, president; Joan Rinehart, manager; Betty Layman, secretary; Donald Miller, treasurer; Alberta Glasgow, publicity.

THE VARSITY TRIO

ORCHESTRA

Among the highlights of the college program are the orchestra concerts presented under the able leadership of Professor Johnson. The orchestra plans concerts at three intervals throughout the college year: Thanksgiving, Spring, and Commencement. The music of these concerts is varied to meet the diverse likes of everyone.

On Thanksgiving, the orchestra presented a memorable program. It consisted of music by modern and classical composers such as Herbert, Gershwin, Beethoven and others. The players' technique and style were expressed well in these numbers. The soloists at this event were Pauline Beaver, piano, and Donald Miller, organ. They presented in a unique manner the famous "Rhapsody in Blue" by Gershwin.

It is felt the orchestra is a growing organization in that more students have showed their interest by participating in it this year. The orchestra has been able to continue its activities throughout the war years; however, it is happy to welcome back many of its old members.

The purpose of the college orchestra is to provide programs, as well as to give the members an opportunity to become better acquainted with the compositions of contemporary and old masters. Some of the members of the orchestra belong for the purpose of developing a worthwhile avocation. Regardless of the individual purposes, this organization promotes greater interest in music among the students and provides entertainment for all.

The officers were as follows: president, Elizabeth Shaffer; secretary-treasurer, Virginia Geyer; librarian, Pauline Hoke.

SCALPEL AND PROBE CLUB

The Scalpel and Probe Club, like other organizations that were restricted because of the extant conditions, has resumed its function with a new and vigorous start. The monthly meetings were held in Science Hall since the organization is an outgrowth of the Biology Department. The short business meetings were followed by interesting and instructive lectures on some biological subject. The lecture was followed, in turn, by a period of open discussion. After the meeting came the time which, though not the most educational, was quite gratifying—the time for refreshments.

The Club endeavored to give pre-medical students a greater activity in the science of biology. In order to do this, persons in associated branches of biology were secured to speak on their particular branch. The first hand information that these speakers offered on varied and up-to-date subjects added to the knowledge of each member and the practical content proved valuable in acquiring skills and techniques. Not only did the Club invite lecturers, but it also visited hospitals to observe medical and surgical treatment.

One of the things the members prided themselves upon was their exclusiveness. Only those students having completed eight hours of biology and those taking more could receive an invitation to join. Since the organization was small, it greatly facilitated the accomplishment of its aims.

Dr. Homer C. Will and Dr. Pressley L. Crummy, to whom the Club is indebted for their guidance, were the faculty advisors.

The officers, Cornelius Strittmatter, president; Dan Sell, vice-president; Donald Miller, secretary; and John Carper, treasurer, had to shoulder the responsibility of making the club a success. This they did—for the Club is now receiving due recognition on Juniata campus.

Standing: William Bonsell, Raymond Andrews, John Carper, Dante Restuccia, Dr. Will. Seated: Cornelius Strittmatter, Rhoda McCord, Donald Miller.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

The International Relations Club has again been active on campus this year. Under the capable leadership of President Lisa Glade and sponsors Dr. Zassenhaus and Dr. Hall, these internationally-minded students considered the problems of the world today in their meetings.

The Club spent the first semester in the discussion of methods of preventing a third world war. In connection with this they studied the Jewish question quite extensively. Rabbi Shoulson of Altoona addressed them on the plans of the Zionist movement in America, and the possibilities which Palestine offers as a future Jewish state. At a later meeting Mr. Richard Linton, a lawyer of Huntingdon who had spent some time in Cairo, spoke on the Arab side of the Palestinian question.

Featured activities of the Club during the second semester were a forum on the atomic bomb with Ruth Rittenhouse, Luke Shuler, and Jesse Garber as the principle speakers, and an informal talk on the situation in China by Leland Miles who was stationed in that country while he was a member of the Army Air Forces. Ruth Rittenhouse served as the program chairman.

The officers of the club were: President, Lisa Glade; Secretary-treasurer, Ruth Rittenhouse.

CAMPUS CAMERA CLUB

Something new has been added! Arising from the keen interest of those who go around snapping pictures and uttering a suggestive "Let's have a smile," the Camera Club has come to life.

This newly organized Club on College Hill made an impressive start by setting as its goal for the year the furnishing of a "dark room" where members could develop their own pictures. This room is adjacent to the Post Office and has proved to be a great asset to the Club. Then, too, a gift of an enlarger was made by the Club advisor, Professor Jack Oller, so things were started with a "bang."

The Club was governed by a "Dark Room" Committee which consisted of Professor Oller, the officers, John Carper and Warren Baughman. This Committee was responsible for the operation and maintenance of the "dark room."

Members of the Camera Club took many of the informal shots found in Juniata's and in this year's Alfarata. All members were encouraged to take many and varied pictures throughout the year. During the second semester, classes in all phases of photography were conducted for Club members under the direction of Warren Baughman and Paul Yoder. Over the Christmas holidays, each member was given a roll of film to expose and develop upon his return. Development of these films was done under supervision. The officers were: President, Paul Yoder; Vice President, John Grasse; Secretary, Myron Dunlavy; Treasurer, Betty Erickson.

VETERANS' CLUB

With the appearance on campus of an increasing number of Juniata men returned from the service, the need for a campus organization to aid in the rehabilitation program became apparent. The Juniata College Veterans' Club was formed and approved by the Senate in November, 1945. Its chief purpose was to enable veterans from Juniata to get together socially and culturally, to promote good will and general welfare among members of the organization. It was also active in solving housing problems of married veterans.

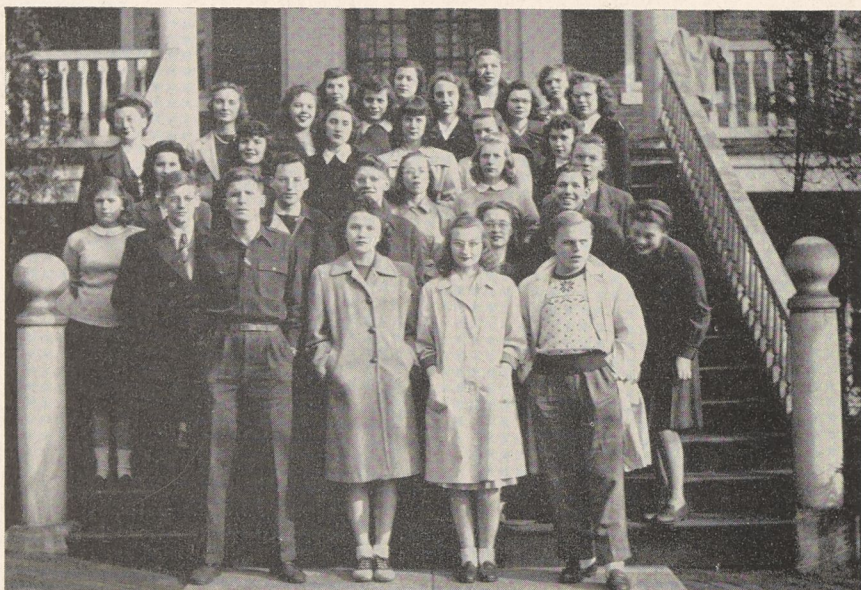

Any student with an honorable discharge from the armed service was eligible for membership. It was hoped that many veterans would have the opportunity, through the medium of the Club, to meet old campus acquaintances of pre-war years.

Co-faculty advisors of the club were Professor George Clemens and Coach Philip Snider, both of whom were in combat zones during the war.

The officers, all of whom were scheduled before the outbreak of the war to graduate between 1942-1945, are: President, Norman Furrer; Vice-President, William Bonsell; Secretary, Leland Miles; Treasurer, Charles Leeper; Sergeant-at-Arms, Michael Croft; Chaplain, Myron Dunlavy.

THE MASQUE

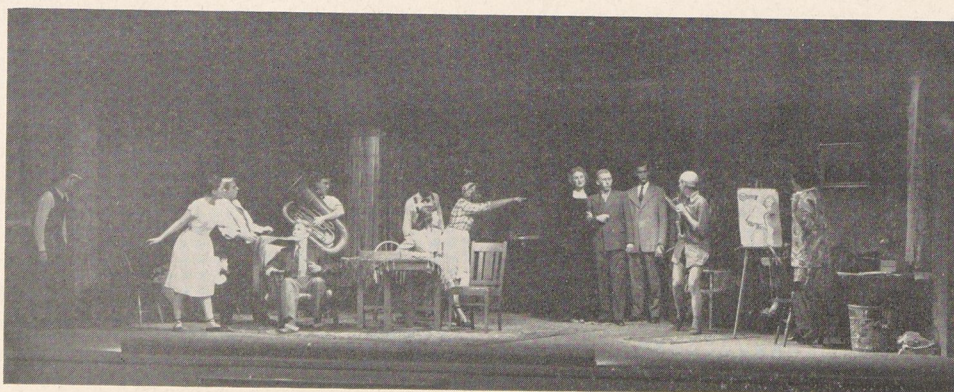

When Juniata's honor drama society, the Masquers, presented "The Devil and Daniel Webster" in May 1942, few suspected that the Stephen Benet play would be the last on College Hill for three years. Between the exodus of Juniata men to the service and the arrival on campus of a new director, Miss Esther Doyle, a considerable layer of dust had gathered on flats, light cables, and make-up closets.

With the Masque Constitution still pending in the Student Senate, casting began for George Kauffman's "You Can't Take It With You." To those who were concerned with how drama's return would be received, the manner in which the tryout committee was swamped with candidates was indeed gratifying. Josephine Hull's "Penny" was awarded to Miss Ruth Rittenhouse; "Tony" to freshman Fred Layman; "Alice" to Jane Reidenbaugh. To Leland Miles fell the task of interpreting "Grandpa," a character made famous and loved by Henry Travers and Lionel Barrymore. Oller Hall, potentially Pennsylvania's finest college theater building, became the scene of concentrated rehearsal. Dialogue, stage directions, and Director's "No, No—use your up-stage hand," rang above the stage floor after three years of silence.

The purposes of the Masque are encouraging to the future, not only to sponsor major campus productions, but to study and practice drama in its meetings and to visit dramatic productions off-campus. With Oller Hall alive again, as it should be, with girls painting and men clambering in the loft, it seems that drama is not only back to stay, but that it will become increasingly important in the immediate years ahead.

The Cast of

"PRIDE AND PREJUDICE"

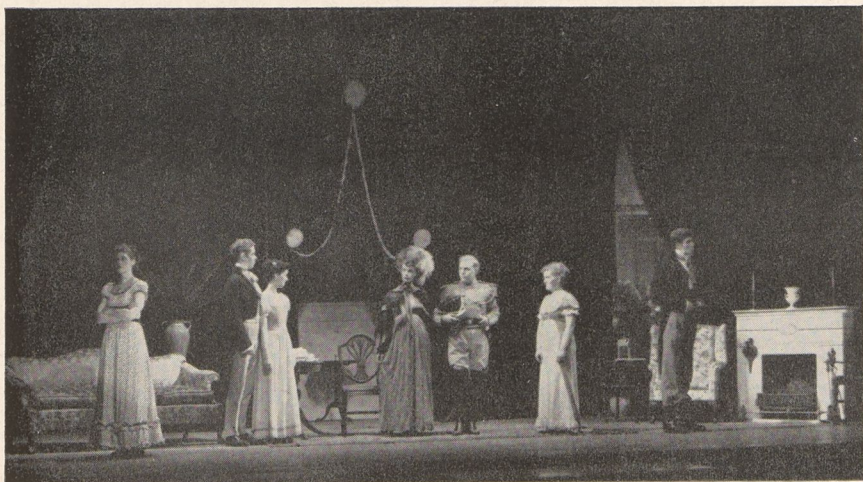

From the obvious comic situations of the play, "You Can't Take It With You," the Masque turned to a play of witty lines—a play more difficult both for actors to interpret and for an audience to appreciate. In accordance with the policy of expanding the drama program, the Masque voted to present "Pride and Prejudice" on two consecutive evenings, March 15, and 16, 1946.

Jane Austen's novel, put in stage clothes by Helen Jerome, is the story of Mrs. Bennett's (Geraldine High) determination to get her likely looking daughters Jane, Elizabeth, and Lydia married. For in 1800 a woman's one career was matrimony. Not to be a wife was utter failure. Despite her sister's success with the male species, Elizabeth refuses to marry Mr. Collins whom she openly deprecates and Mr. Darcy whom she secretly adores. Before the evening is over Darcy's prejudice and Elizabeth's pride meet halfway.

Elaine Lottes transformed herself with remarkable ease from the flighty "Essie" of "You Can't Take It with You" into the charming, intelligent, and lovable Elizabeth. Mr. Darcy, who coated himself with a veneer of austerity but who did not lack a noble heart, was a most difficult role and was capably handled by Charles Leeper. Leland Miles' "Grandpa" vanished as he strode the stage as the stern and crisp Mr. Bennett.

The Masque Workshop production of Barrie's "What Every Woman Knows," directed by Leland Miles, revealed the talents of three people who were subsequently cast in prominent parts in "Pride and Prejudice:" Ben Lavey as the effeminate, smirking Mr. Collins; Jean Hafer as the sweet, naive Jane; and Phyllis Diehm as brazen Lady Catherine.

The remainder of the cast was as follows: Lydia, Carolyn Hess; Mr. Bingley, Cornelius Strittmatter; Lady Lucas, Helen Roudabush; Miss Bingley, Betty White; Mr. Wickham, Robert Myers; Hill, Charles Pickell; Fitzwilliam, Arent Heil; Amelia, Betty Kiracofe; Mrs. Gardner, Jane Reidenbaugh; Maggie, Betty Thomas; Belinda, Gloria Rung; and Agatha, Jane Pennell.

MAY DAY, 1946

With the spring beauty of Sherwood as the background, the May Day festivities were held this year on May eighteenth.

The May Court consisted of the following: May Queen, Phyllis Diehm; Prince Charming, Eugene Brumbaugh; Maid-of-Honor, Bernadine Holden; Senior Attendants, Betty Brumbaugh and Geraldine Baer; Junior Attendants, Mary Louise Griffith and Gladys Johnson; Sophomore Attendants, Jane Reidenbaugh and Maxine Hutchison; Freshmen Attendants, Lois Tromm and Mary Lou Cannon.

To the strains of the processional played by the Juniata College Band the May Court entered and took its place on the fern-decked stage.

At a signal from the newly crowned queen the merry-making began. The colorful pageant portrayed was based on the familiar fairy tale, "Sleeping Beauty."

It is the princess' birthday and she is dancing in her garden with her playmates. The king and queen enter followed by the twelve godmothers and the peasants who present their gifts and then dance. The wicked godmother enters and, after dancing wildly about, places a curse on the princess. On her eighteenth birthday the princess pricks her finger on a spinning wheel and falls asleep. A hedge grows up about the castle. The spell is broken only when the prince leaps through the hedge and kisses the princess who immediately awakens—and they live happily ever after.

With the exit of the May Court, the program came to an end for another year. Our special thanks go to Mrs. William Smaltz and Edna Thomas who directed the dancing; to Professor Scholl who directed the band; to Catherine Maloy and her competent committee of music arrangers; to Betty Kiracofe (flowers); to William Pastuszek (publicity); to Vivian Souder (properties), and their respective committees; and to Geraldine Baer who as Chairman of General Activities was responsible for the close cooperation of these groups.

STUDENT VOLUNTEERS

THE MARANATHA CLUB

The aim and purpose of the Maranatha Club is to strengthen and deepen its members in the knowledge of the Word of God. The Club has striven this year to fill the need on campus for a study group on the important truths of the Christian faith. Discussions were led by the students, guided by a study book from the Moody Bible Institute written by Dr. C. I. Scofield. Outside speakers also led several of the meetings, bringing rich blessings from the Word.

A table was maintained in the library by the Club, in order that members and all other students might share in the reading of special literature and keep acquainted with the activities of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship with which the Maranatha Club affiliated last year.

The Club also continued its work of last year, in sending students to help in the Sunday School at Cold Springs, by presenting special music and object lessons for the children.

The officers of the Club were: President, Miriam Estep; Vice President, Grace Landis; Secretary-treasurer, Martha Dilling.

MINISTERIUM

The Ministerium Club is a professional club. Its purpose is to promote Christian fellowship between student ministers and their faculty advisors. This fellowship has served to bring young men of all denominations together in an exchange of problems, ideas, and suggestions.

This year the program was of a threefold nature. Each Sunday one of the members offered a prayer at the noon meal. On Wednesday, two of the group attended the County Jail for an inspiration service to those unfortunate of our community. On the third Thursday of each month, the regular meeting was held. The topic under discussion at the monthly meeting this year was "Denominational Doctrines." At each meeting, ministers from the different denominations presented their church doctrines and a discussion was held concerning these doctrines. denominations presented their church doctrines and a discussion was held concerning these doctrines.

It is the desire of the Ministerium to be prepared to "Hold forth the Word of life" and to be of Christian service to God, the Church, the community, and the world.

Special activities for the year included the Big-Little Sister Movement; the Christmas Bazaar, the proceeds of which were given to the Student Christian Movement for the support of students in war-torn countries; the Spring Banquet, at which the officers for the following year were installed; and Heart Sister Week during the week of St. Valentine's Day.

THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

After several years on the inactive list, the Y. M. C. A. has been reorganized this year and has taken its rightful place among other J. C. organizations. It has also been a participating member in the Student Christian Movement of the Middle Atlantic Region. Composed of student and faculty men alike, the Y. M. C. A. made a valuable contribution to campus life.

The purpose of the Y. M. C. A. is to provide a well-rounded program of Christian influence among the students of the campus and to create and maintain a high standard of Christian character in the students themselves. In connection with this purpose, its program this year consisted of monthly meetings to which outside speakers, faculty, and student leaders were invited to speak on subjects of interest and importance to the group.

The Y. W. C. A., largest student organization on campus, carried on its regular activities and initiated several new ones during the year, under the leadership of President Marguerite Cooper. Regular monthly meeting of the Cabinet at the homes of the faculty advisors were continued, and for the first time the organization held several meetings for the entire group. The first two, in October and December, were in preparation for the Christmas Bazaar. A "work shop" was held at which the girls worked on gifts which were to be sold. The programs for the other meetings included speakers, panel discussions, and hymn sings. The organization also took its turn, with the other religious organizations on campus, in supplying a Sunday evening worship service, on of which was the Consecration Service on Round Top in October.

The spirit of cooperation with the Y. W. C. A. was manifest throughout the year as the two groups participated in activities of the College and the community. Some of the joint activities were the Christian Vespers, the Christmas Bazaar, and a drive for world relief. Too, each Sunday afternoon of the school year, members of the Y. W. and Y. M. visited the hospital with a message of song and speaking.

The Y. Club Room, in which social gatherings were held and in which were found magazines, papers, easy chairs, a fireplace, and a radio, is located in the basement of The Cloister and is maintained by the Y. M. C. A. Many a social hour was enjoyed here by the men of the "dorm."

Officers of the Y. M. C. A. are as follows: President, Paul Moyer; Vice President, Donald Miller; Secretary, Warren Shoemaker; Treasurer, Cornelius Strittmatter; Program Chairman, William Fegan.

CAMPUS RELIGIOUS SCENES

Juniata College was founded so students could receive a scholarly education in an atmosphere of moral and religious emphasis. Throughout its history the college has been distinctly Christian in spirit and teaching, emphasizing the ideals of character and conduct which are presented in the Bible.

The representative scenes on this page show some of the many activities of Christian basis in which the students participate. During the course of the year, student organists play for the Chapel services occasionally, as well as offering recitals. Pre-ministerial students are given the opportunity to conduct the service in the Stone Church. Each Sunday morning at 9:15 a great number of students gather in Founders Chapel to study the International Sunday School lesson under the able guidance of President Ellis.

CHAIRMAN OF PUBLICATIONS

All student publications are supervised by the Chairman of Publications. These include the "Juniatian," the "Alfarata," and the "Scout." "The Juniatian" is the college newspaper by which the student body is kept informed about college events, the "Alfarata" is the annual which provides a pictorial record of the college year, and the "Scout" is a handbook for Freshmen.

Other duties of the Publications Chairman are the appointments of the staffs for the minor publications and the publication of all Senate news and projects.

quarterly at the enormous cost of twenty-five cents a year. From this beginning the "Echo" soon developed into a monthly magazine "... devoted to literature, art, science, religion, and the interest of the Normal College ..." It emphasized the literary field, with numerous articles in a definitely prose style, but was not at all the kind of publication we would honor with the title of NEWSpaper.

The school magazine, intended to spur interest in literary accomplishment rather than to record campus happenings, soon began to be supplanted by a new publication. Under the editorship of Stanley Stroup, '25, the first issue of "The Juniatian" was published Nov. 6, 1924. This weekly had as its goal the hope that it might "... embrace all the campus and Alumni news and present it 'hot from the griddle' to the student and Alumni bodies ... full to the muzzle with everything that flavors of College life ..." From the editorial of that first issue, the conclusion reads: "... this paper will bring about better cooperation between the alumni and student bodies, that it will quicken campus life and intensify student enthusiasm, that it will serve as a medium of information, a nucleus of organization, and a center of cooperation ..." Surely the first editors have left for all future staffs a goal that can never be perfectly attained. "The Juniatian" no longer remains the link between campus and alumni. In 1936 the Alumni Bulletin was begun to fill more adequately the ever-increasing need for a separate publication wholly devoted to alumni news.

"The Alfarata," the year's calendar of events, was begun in 1915 by the senior class as a permanent record of the names and faces that the "Echo" might not mention. It was their effort to express and preserve their precious memories, "as far as possible, in tangible form." The Editor-in-chief, Harry S. Baer, says in his foreword, "Juniata is not a mere institution and cannot be pictured. It is a life and must be lived. However, we hope that, some day, by looking over these crude pictures and descriptions, we can live again the old days ... In this spirit we send forth the first "Alfarata," with all its imperfections on its head." Those same ideas are the goals of this year's staff. Fundamentally, this is the same "Alfarata," improved by years of experience. It will continue to be the same as long as Juniata retains the traditions that students of many years have known and loved.

The "Scout" is an entirely different group of readers. This is the freshman's guide to college life. It was begun in 1924 as a service of the joint Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.'s. Its purpose is to acquaint the new student more quickly with the life and spirit of this institution.

These are Juniata's publications. Each fills a definite need, and not one can do the work of another so well as that for which it is fitted. As long as these continue to be "the voice of the people," we may rest assured that Juniata is still defending the ideas she has cherished from the beginning.

PUBLICATIONS

"Vox populi vox dei est." At no time in the past have the college publications represented the spirit of Juniata so clearly and so vividly as at the present. It has been said that every newspaper should be like a mirror, reflecting the scenes about it. Juniata's publications are like a mirror because they do reflect present life on College Hill. They also reflect the past of Juniata and give an interesting glimpse at what her future may be.

It is taken for granted that campus publications have not always been in the present state of achievement. There must necessarily be a beginning for everything, and the beginnings of the JUNIATIAN, ALFARATA, and SCOUT had little in them to suggest their present importance.

In November of 1890, the trustees of Juniata College published the first issue of the "Juniata Echo," published

Fourth Founders' Gathering

"DORM LIFE"

A college student's life is not always one of "book work." These scenes depict many of the familiar room parties commonly called "bull sessions." Although the women resident students are frequently cited for their many sessions, one is not able to doubt the fact that the Cloistermen gather 'round the hearth more than once to analyze the major troubles of the day.

The first picture gives a cozy view of the prize winning single room of the 1945 Homecoming Room Contest. Probably some of the men recognize the room because it is Room 3 of Fourth Founders, the old homestead of the men. The third picture shows a corner of the most spacious room in the Women's Halls. It is a shelter for many of the girls seeking a home-like atmosphere for relaxation. Sorry, girls, don't try for the room because the occupants own the furniture.

Of course, the second dorm shot is known to all of us—the lavished furnished apartment of Mr. Brumbaugh. Oh, how the men (I suppose the women, too) enjoy chatting in these quarters. But then, the last picture shows the true character of the fellows as they gather after the evening meal to solve all major disputes.

Glenora Edwards

CHAIRMAN OF FRESHMEN

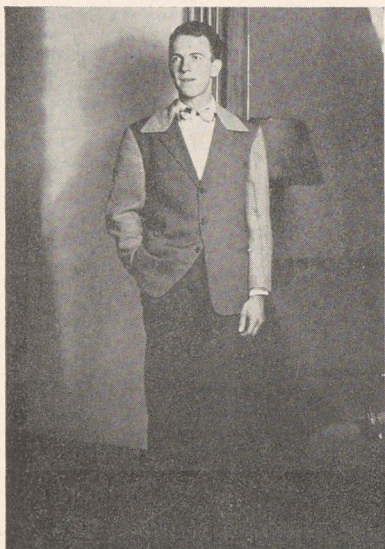

The Chairman of Freshmen, as the name indicates, is concerned with the activities and special duties of members of the Freshman Class. Working with a faculty committee, she helps to plan and to direct the activities of Freshman Week and to see that new students are properly adjusted to college life.

The Chairman of Freshmen also presides over the Tribunal which meets every Tuesday night at the beginning of the year to judge infractions of Freshman regulations. The members of the Men and Women's Freshman Committees work with her in this respect.

CHAIRMAN OF ATHLETICS

The Chairman of Athletics is the student member of the Athletic Board of the college and so has a big part to play in arranging the athletic events for the college year. Too, the chairman has as his assistants the women's intramural manager and the men's intramural manager; all the sports arranged on a competitive basis for the various classes are organized by these three.

The big day for the athletic chairman is All Sports' Day which is usually held on the day preceding Reading Day in the spring term. A day's program of athletic events is arranged by the chairman for the college community.

SURVEY OF SPORTS — 1945 - 46

Not all the worthwhile goals of a college life are gained in the classroom. The care of the human body is man's greatest duty and athletic events offer the best training ground. This fact became more important during the days of war and so it was not unnatural for the athletic program of the college to expand greatly with the welcomed return of the veterans.

During the basketball season it was good to see so many of the familiar faces of the teams of several years ago back on the hardwood. Too, the newcomers gave strength to the team and helped the boys have a rather successful year.

The spring season witnessed the organization of a baseball and a track team. Every afternoon the enthusiastic men of these sports streamed down to the athletic field for long and hard practice but the work was all beneficial and gratifying for the men really made a good showing in both sports.

All the while the men were engaging in the competitive athletic events, the women were finding their relaxation and exercise in the intramural tournaments of softball, basketball, badminton, ping pong, volleyball, and tennis which the Cabinet members of the W. A. A. sponsored. The girls climaxed their athletic events with the Play Day which was held on April 13 with Susquehanna and Shippensburg girls as guests.

In order to arouse the enthusiasm of the spectators at athletic events, nothing is more essential than a good cheering squad. When the Kat Klub, the campus cheering organization, received its full club status from the Senate this year, we realized the importance of the group. The cheerleaders were really loyal to the teams and promoted a great school spirit with the backing of the student body.

BASKETBALL

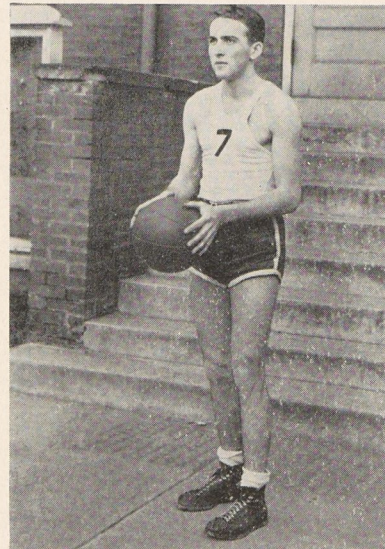

On a chilled Friday afternoon in the latter part of October, Jack Oller called a meeting of all basketball enthusiasts. There was an air of optimism in the meager group of Juniata Indians, and the prospective squad members proceeded to whip up a quintet with the material at hand for the opener with Westminster on the fifth of December. Gene Brumbaugh, returning to Juniata after a year in the Navy Air Corps, was appointed Captain on the 1945-1946 five.

The month of November saw the discharge from the Navy of Coach "Mike" Snider and his return to the coaching chores with the Redskins. "Mickey" Leeper, after a couple of years with the Air Corps, was menacing opponents from his familiar guard spot. Ray Clapperton, veteran Juniata forward, was also discharged and returned to the squad.

Losing to Westminster by a 61 to 50 margin, the Indians rebounded and chalked up victories over Carnegie Tech and the Alumni. Then, after dropping a close decision to Gettysburg, the Juniata quintet chalked up a string of eight consecutive victories, before hitting a snag at Lebanon Valley College and remaining in a slump for four successive defeats.

In a tilt between Elizabethtown College and the Juniata Indians on the Huntingdon High School floor, the boys from College Hill had run up a very comfortable lead by the third quarter. The Flying Dutchmen then started a rally which was not quelled until about ten minutes before the final whistle. Like a bolt of unchained lightning, the Indian five regained their mid-season form and turned a close contest into a lop-sided victory for Juniata. Score: Juniata 72—Elizabethtown 55.

The return of Percy Blough at semesters along with two promising freshmen, Jack Walters and Jim Kauffman, bolstered the team in their remaining frays. Gene Brumbaugh maintained an average of approximately 15 points per game. Danny Restuccia, Ken Grote, Norm Furrer, Mickey Leeper, Ray Clapperton, and Harry King all deserve credit for the good sport shown this year and the record of the team.

BASEBALL

The major spring sport, baseball, rebounded to life this year following the dormant period when Uncle Sam controlled the manpower. The squad certainly reminded one of the pre-war college days with so many former Juniata men back in swing.

Under the expert coaching of Dr. Kiracofe and the capable captaincy of Herb Frye, the Goldsox made a fine record.

the next day to have their opening game with Pitt. The boys played a good game but lost 6-3.

The fair weather during the latter days of March and the fine April weather following spring vacation provided the men with good drill time. Dr. Kiracofe found competition keen for starting berths with a large lineup of seasoned men. Eight lettermen from the 1944 squad were in position.

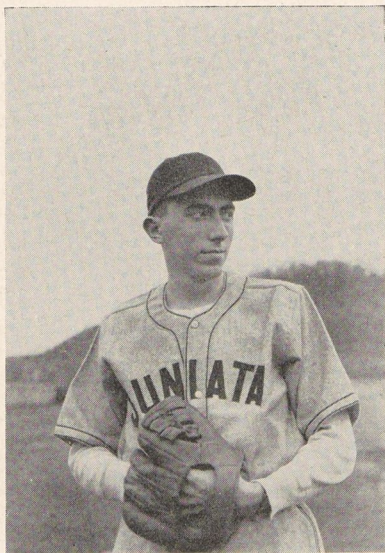

The men and the positions in competition were: Herb Frye, Dick Frick, Jim Peterson, and Paul Peoples for the pitching post; Don Everhart and Luke Bowser for catcher; Charles Leeper and Dick Stever for first base; Ray Clapperton, Murray Weight, and Paul Bumgardner for second base; Earl Kaylor and Bill Germann for third base; James Kauffmann and Charles Bargerstock for shortstop; Jack Lang, Gene Brumbaugh, Glenn Holsinger, Percy Blough, and Dick Sutor for outfield.

TRACK

Having been without a track team for several years due to the depleted manpower in times of war, Juniata proudly featured its cinder path boys this year.

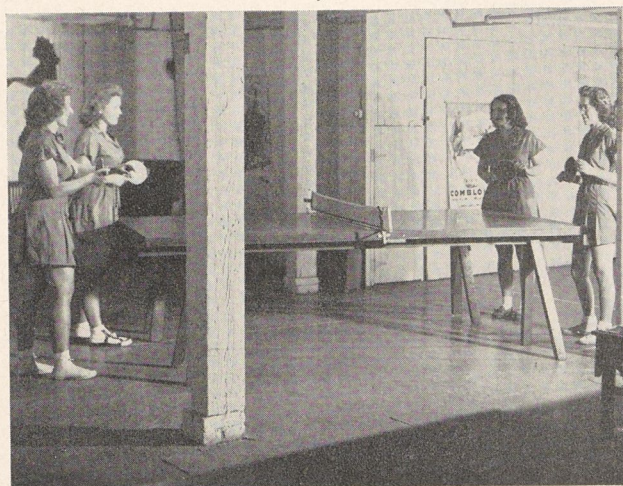

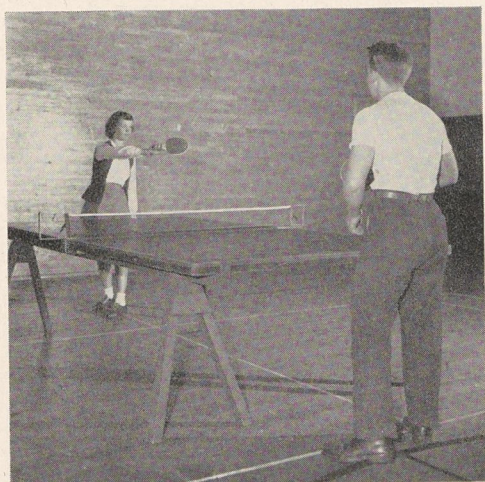

The response to the call for these men interested in track was most gratifying and so Coach Snider began in March to mold an organization to compete in the four track meets scheduled for this spring's season. Lacking the proper facilities for excellent training since the track was in such terrible condition the men were at a disadvantage but they endured some sort of rigorous training daily.

The competitive meets in which the Juniata cinder men participated this year were the Penn Relays on April 26 and 27, Albright on May 4, the Middle Atlantic States on May 10 and 11, and Dickinson on May 17.

The only representative on campus from the last track team was Charles Leeper. Other campus trackmen for the season were: Dick Grote, a miler and half-miler; Ralph Harrity, a miler and two-miler; Ken Grote, a pole vaulter, quarter-miler and half-miler; Ronald Stutzman, a dash man; Jack Walters, a hurdler; Jesse Garber, in the weight department, and Dick Reed, a dash man and quarter-miler.

Intramural softball is the spring sport of the campus. Even the faculty turn out for the games since the Athletic Committee names each team for a faculty member. Too bad I can't recall whether the team standing or the one sitting is the victor—let's call it a tie and keep everyone happy.

The W. A. A. Clubroom is certainly a favorite spot for the athletes. Here the ping pong tables are kept busy with the tournament fans. But still the girls have a slight margin on the fellows because they get some practice in their gym classes.

Just a little "warm-up" before the big softball game. Probably the winners had a big celebration that evening at Skip's. The batter looks set for a homerun in this picture.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Once again the Women's Athletic Association encouraged every girl to enter into sports—employing that motto "A girl for every sport, and a sport for every girl."

Fall brought with it many enthusiastic hockey players. Because of the rainy weather, thus a necessary cut in the number of games played, there were many valuable hours lost. However, intramural hockey games were scheduled. The climax of the season came on Homecoming when the Sophomores and Freshmen clashed—each team at its best. The Sophomores, in spite of lack of practice, were the victors this time with a 2-1 score.

The basketball season started officially with the warm-up practices before the Thanksgiving game. The first game was a fast moving tussle between all class "Army" and "Navy" teams. The captains for the two teams were Phyllis Diehm and Vivian Souder. Following the Christmas season, inter-class competition in basketball and volley ball games was encouraged. Bowling also stepped into focus. One of the highlights of the season was a bowling trip to Mount Union.

Repeating once again the successful project of Play Day, the W. A. A. played hostess to girls from several other colleges. Thirty students were invited to participate in the various athletic activities and to join in the specially planned social functions. The outstanding activities of the day were basketball and volleyball; other sports serving as a background were mushball, paddleball, and badminton. The day ended with a tea for all the participants.

Other activities of the Club included the installation of a coca-cola machine in the W. A. A. Club Room for the use of members and students. The Club Room was open several evenings a week to the student body. The money received from the machine was used to decorate the Club Room, and to get letters for those girls having the required number of points.

All in all, the Women's Athletic Association had a successful year. Their aims for co-operation and good sportsmanship among all were always displayed in their games.

The officers this year were: President, Mary Louise Shaffer; Vice President, Patricia Gribben; Secretary, Pauline Hoke; Treasurer, Gladys Johnson.

Hockey—the pastime for the women athletes each fall. The big day is Homecoming Day when the Sophs and Frosh have their annual battle. Any hockey game is fun though and the girls can make those sticks fly.

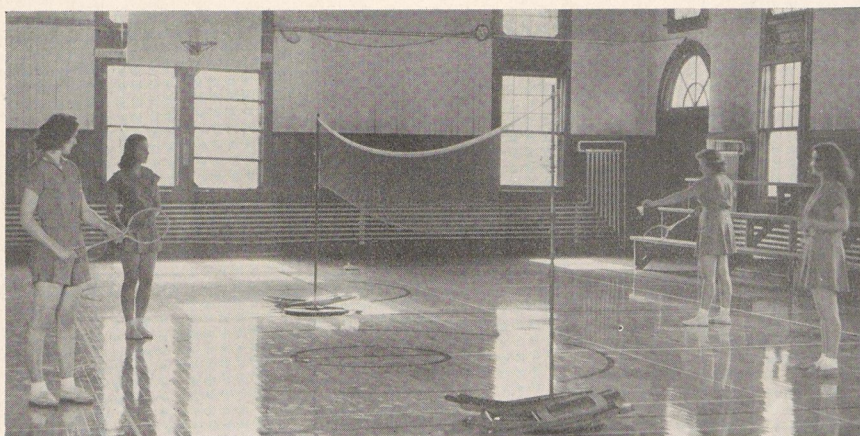

Some Frosh at practice during a gym period. I've always wondered why the Frosh were champs this year—could be their good coaching and long practices??

A favorite gym class sport for the few with strong wrists is the famous paddle game. Oh, what mighty hits that little ball takes!!

A good sport indoors or on the gym green is badminton. The girls had a great time in this game on Play Day, April 13.

PHILADELPHIA

ONE OF THE WORLD'S GREAT EXTERMINATING ORGANIZATIONS

Greetings, Seniors:

Were I in your place again—well, here is one thing I would do: I would have a real one-man conference with myself as to my life work and the area for it.

Most people get located by the line of least resistance—the first thing that comes along. It will pay you to "Think!"

Next to picking the right girl, it pays to really select your life work and place.

Personally, I love the Insurance Business—we have some openings. It's a business of broadening horizons.

We wish you Success and Happiness.
